HIGHLIGHTS & DESCRIPTION

Hunt for Ronda Ibex

Overview

In southern Spain you can hunt the Ronda ibex. This species is somewhat smaller than the Gredos and Beceite ibex, but it doesn't make the hunt any less exciting. The fur color is lighter than its relatives to the north, where especially the Gredos bucks tend to become very dark as they age. The horns are robust and, at the same time, beautifully lyre-shaped, typically reaching a length of 50–65 cm. However, in certain areas, truly large specimens of around 70 cm or more can be found!

Here you will hunt in magnificent nature with mountain landscapes at elevations of 1,000 - 2,000 m.

As is the case with other mountain game, Spanish ibex are both elusive and vigilant. After being pursued by humans, eagles, foxes, wolves, lynxes, and other predators for hundreds of years, they have developed extremely sharp senses. Their sense of smell and hearing are fantastic, but their sight is truly exceptional.

All of this, combined with the terrain they inhabit, makes the Spanish ibex a worthy adversary and a highly coveted trophy.

Hunting Season

The hunting season for this species is from October to May. The best hunting months are October, November, and December.

The hunt itself is a classic mountain hunt. In the early morning hours, one will attempt to locate the ibexes from higher elevations, often grazing in the lower lying areas. Using powerful spotting scopes, the hunting guide and the hunter will assess the size of the trophies and determine if an animal of the desired size is in the herd.

The distance to the animals at this point can range from a few hundred meters to several kilometers.

Now begins the part of the hunt that many hunters believe elevates mountain hunting above other types, namely stalking. The planning of the stalk is critical, as there is often no contact with the ibexes for long periods, sometimes lasting several hours.

HUNTING AREA Southern Spain

In southern Spain you can hunt the Sierra Nevada ibex and the somewhat smaller Ronda ibex. Both of these sub-species are smaller than the Gredos and Beceite ibex, but this does not mean that the hunt is any less exciting.

Their coats are lighter in colour than their relatives to the north, where, especially the ibex in the Gredos mountains have a tendency to get very dark as they get older. The horns are strong, and also beautifully lyre-shaped. Typically they reach a length of between 55 - 70cm.

Here the hunt also takes place in really beautiful surroundings, in a mountain landscape at an altitude between 1,000 - 2,000m.

Hunting season

The hunting season for these two sub-species is October - May. The best hunting occurs in October, November and December during the rut.

About us

Limpopo & Diana Hunting Tours

Limpopo & Diana Hunting Tours Limpopo Travel and Diana Hunting Tours – which today are one and the same company - are built on more than four decades of experience in the hunting travel industry. Diana Hunting tours was founded in Svendborg back in 1974 by the internationally known figure in the hunting tour industry, Jan Krössteig, who today remains shareholder and chairman of the concern.

Over the years the company has grown into the world's largest hunting travel office, with hunting partners in more than 40 counties and customers from around the world. This has only been possible because of the strength of our customers faith in our company, our partners and the service we provide. We take great pride in the fact that a significant number of our customers are "regulars" you not only travel with us frequently, but also bring with then new customers into our business.

The hunting travel market has never been as chaotic as it is at present. There have always been a mass of smalland medium sized agencies trading on the market, but in recent years the rise of the internet has really opened up the market for direct booking and packages sold by "agents" of more or less transparent character and by agencies based abroad.

A large number of hunters have had their fingers burnt booking "cheap" packages, which rarely proceed as promised, Generally it is only when things go wrong that the unfortunate hunter who bought the tour first realises what the difference between a good Danish travel agency - with all the security that entails -and a questionable foreign seller, really is.

What we offer our customers is a rather unique level of security. Our experienced staff really know our destinations and can provide highly qualified advice tailored to the customer's individual requirements. If you book your hunting tour through us you also have a guarantee against the unlikely event of bankruptcy through the Danish Travel Guarantee Fund. Our long standing membership of the Danish Travel Agency Association is also a guarantee for professional service throughout all the proceedings that a hunting tour entails - also in the event of something not going quite as planned. As one of our customers you can expect around the clock support, via our emergency hotline, in the event of anything at all going wrong.
